Believe

On October 5th 2005, Richard Fritzky received last rites, was told to make his final peace with his wife, Maggie and their 12 children and then was placed in a medically induced coma in an effort to save his life. He had contracted a rare and very deadly form of the Meningococcal bacteria called Neisseria Meningitis – a disease that ends in death within 24 hours in virtually every case of the infection. He asked his family to pray and to keep the faith and to believe.

“I am going to rest easy, so I want you to rest easy as well. All you need do is to keep the faith and pray. Believe as I believe and all will come out well.”

After four months in that coma, multiple amputations, great suffering, and against all medical prognostications, Richard Fritzky awakened and came back to full mental acuity with a perfect memory, a remarkable sense of humor, and an understanding of life known only to those few who have faced death and lived to tell their story.

Rich is now available to tell that powerful story in a way that can energize, motivate, and inspire your organization like no one else ever has or ever will. Call today to book him for your next event. We promise a life changing experience that your attendees will never forget.
